

SPECIAL RISKS

Sports professionals

Whether an athlete plays in a team or an individual sport - from top flight footballers through to up and coming rugby players - the management of the risks they face requires specialist advice.

The key is ensuring that the right cover and benefits are identified. That demands an in-depth understanding of the specialist insurance market, a sport's risk profile, and an athlete's lifestyle and aspirations.

The Miller difference

Miller's international sports team is amongst the most experienced and influential in the market, containing former sports professionals from across the UK & Europe who can empathise with the challenges faced by sports professionals. We are proud of our passion and dedication to completely understand our clients' sport, their needs and circumstances. This empowers us to deliver smart, cost-effective risk transfer solutions and strategies.

What we cover

We access the specialist global market to tailor the appropriate insurance cover, at the right price.

Personal accident specialists

Whilst the risk of injury may be unavoidable, its financial impact can be avoided given proper planning and protection. We work with some of the world's biggest sporting stars, tailoring personal accident cover to their individual requirements to give them long term financial protection in the event of a career ending injury.
